FAITH PROMOTING EXPERIENCES: After touring Ireland, Dennis and I flew to Londonto tour there and to go to the London Temple. When we arrived in London, we learned that the temple was closed. I felt that I would never get back to London again, so we took a bus out to the temple which was about a 3 hour trip because of the many stops. On arriving, we walked around the beautiful landscaped grounds taking pictures. As we past the front door, which was open, we saw a man inside dressed in temple clother. Dennis went up the steps and the Temple President greeted him, "Come right in, we have been waiting for you." Six missionaries who had been released from the Africa Mission, had asked for a special session in the London temple, and so we got to go through also. Later we got to go thru he castle on the gounds which had been converted into apartments on the 2nd floor for the temple orkers. I shall never forget that special spiritual feeling that we experienced that day. hile we were in the castle, one of the missionaries played the ancient baby grand piano and the notes echoed up the candlestick stairway and through the castle. I shall always remember the persian ugs, the stone loveseats on each side of the massive fireplace, the the 12 inch lumber on the kitchen floor and the huge cooking stove. Nothing had been changed on the ground floor. T ront door was thick with a large key, a good nine inches which fit the door. It was a very special xperience.
